On 1 May 2019, the two German companies Wintershall Holding GmbH (Wintershall) and DEA Deutsche Erdoel AG (DEA) completed their international merger to form Wintershall Dea. As Europe's largest independent gas and oil producer, Wintershall Dea has been successfully active in Argentina for over 40 years. Here, the company produces hydrocarbons, in particular natural gas, and is the country's fourth-largest gas producer. Its activities are concentrated in the central Argentine provinces of Neuquén and Mendoza and in the south off the coast of Tierra del Fuego. The wholly owned subsidiary Wintershall Dea Argentina currently holds interests in a total of 15 gas and oil fields in Argentina and produces around 26 million barrels of oil equivalent (boe) per year.

Operator in the Vaca Muerta Formation

Wintershall Dea has been active in the conventional production of natural gas and crude oil in the province of Neuquén for more than 20 years and is familiar with the geology. Wintershall Dea has interests in the Aguada Federal, Bandurria Norte, Aguada Pichana Este and San Roque blocks. Wintershall Dea is applying this knowledge in developing the blocks in the attractive Vaca Muerta Formation. Shale gas or shale oil projects are currently being conducted in all blocks.

The exploration and production of unconventional reserves involves major technological challenges. Wintershall Dea has decades of experience in environmentally compatible, efficient production from complex reservoirs and, thanks to its special technological expertise, is ideally positioned to master these challenges.
